

Delivering CPD in East Riding – Yorkshire and North East Hub

Author: Louisa Dobson, Hub Lead

In early 2024, East Riding Council commissioned a series of CPD workshops exploring the impacts of military culture and service experience on Service children in education. The training was delivered to staff in schools and colleges with the aim of increasing understanding and knowledge of service children who live in the East Riding. Delegates were provided with an overview of the challenges, barriers and disadvantages that Service children can face and were empowered with the tools and knowledge to develop support within their own education settings.

The workshops were designed and delivered in collaboration between Mike Fleming from York St John University, who adapted their award winning Military Human CPD and Beccy Dixon, the York Armed Forces Liaison Officer based at Ebor Academy Trust.

4 sessions were delivered between February and April with 41 delegates attending. Feedback from these sessions was overwhelmingly positive, and 100% of delegates agreeing that learning could be applied in their own work and settings.

Anyone interested in learning more about the CPD can contact the Yorkshire and North East Hub at scip@yorks.ac.uk.